We found 115cm of snow and a poor snow structure. Unfortunately it was foggy and we had zero visibility. Our snow pit site was marginal, but it's always worth taking a look. Weak, faceted snow was on the ground, very similar to most slopes in the Madison Range. Photo: GNFAC

Advisory Region
Southern Madison
Longitude
-111.19W

Latitude
44.90N

Forecast link: GNFAC Avalanche Forecast for Thu Jan 9, 2020
Southern Madison, 2020-01-07