

The mountains are alive

Date

Fri, 01/19/2024 - 16:25

Activity

Skiing

Today's walk was difficult. Stepping off my skies I sank to the ground when over in middle basin. There was widespread cracking, collapsing, and whoomping. A few smaller natural avalanches but not as many as I had expected with the feedback we were getting. Still great to get out.

Region

Northern Madison

Location (from list)

Middle Basin

Observer Name

Nelson VanTassel