

This natural avalanche was 1 of 2 observed in the Republic Creek drainage just south of Cooke City. It occurred on an E aspect and appeared to have broken into older layers of snow. The total snow water equivalent for this area during the recent storm was 3.1 inches (roughly 3 feet of snow). Photo: B. Fredlund

Advisory Region

Cooke City

Longitude

-109.94W

Latitude

44.99N

Forecast link: GNFAC Avalanche Advisory for Fri Mar 18, 2011

Cooke City, 2011-03-17